Acknowledging those who reach out to others

People who need help finding affordable housing, support groups, educational services or assistance with mental health problems have called on NewBridge Services Inc. since 1968.

To provide these services, the nonprofit relies on the gifts and resources of others. NewBridge also works in collaboration with other organizations to provide said services. On Thursday, April 2, NewBridge Services will award three Helping People Move Forward awards to those who help them help others, during its annual gala, "The Magic of NewBridge."

Mary Jo Buchanan, director of the Morris County Department of Human Services, will be honored for her work to help those who need it, while educating others in the social service arena.
